

New HR manager is Watts Next

Deanne Luke has been appointed as the latest Human Resources (HR) Manager at external human resources company Watts Next.

Company director Sue-Ellen Watts says Deanne will bring a "wealth of HR knowledge and experience" to her new role having worked extensively in both major national and international corporations over the past nine years.

"She possesses professionalism and enthusiasm in providing expert HR services and advice, and delivers an unrivalled level of customer service to her clients," Watts says.

"With invaluable experience in recruitment and account management positions Ms Luke is committed to helping businesses grow through providing indispensable internal HR value.

"In her new role as a Your HR Manager, Ms Luke will continue to develop the Watts Next 360 degree recruitment process and customised HR support service.

"The Watts Next philosophy is dictated through the company's holistic, proactive stance towards employee retention and satisfaction." ■
